

Instructor: Date:

Learner: Regional Branch:

Program: Center:

CONTENT

- Let's Start! • Let's Explore! • Let's Practice! • Extension Activity • Target Words • Learning Points

Let's Start!

Writing Spot: It's time to write an important e-mail!

Learning Outcome

Accurately use important information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can write a work e-mail.
- I can delegate responsibilities to subordinates.
- I can accept responsibilities.

Ask your partner:

- When was the last time you wrote an e-mail to someone?
- What was it about?

Let's Explore!

The deadline for the proposal has been extended. Janet writes an e-mail.

* To "extend" means to make something longer. In this case, it's the date of the deadline.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

Subject: Important: Assignment for this Thursday

Hello Peter,

You are aware that Polygon is intending to expand its market into South America. The competition is fierce but we have the attention of Farmani. As we requested, he has extended the proposal deadline for a bid to promote Holly's clothing line to this Friday. I am commissioning you to write the proposal.

Please consult with Miranda Morehouse if you have any questions. I have asked her to review your progress at the end of each day. The assignment must be completed by Thursday at noon.

Would you please reply to this e-mail to confirm your acceptance of this assignment and its deadline? I am confident in your abilities.

Regards,
Janet Ellison, CEO
Polygon

Subject: Confirmation of Assignment for Thursday

Dear Miss Ellison,

I am writing to confirm my acceptance of the assignment to write the proposal to Farmani on behalf of Polygon. As advised, I will consult with Miranda Morehouse and review my progress at the end of each day.

You may be sure that I will have the proposal finished with excellence by noon on Thursday. Thank you for your confidence and this opportunity to contribute at an exciting time!

Sincerely,
Peter Smith

Let's Practice!

What does Janet ask Peter to do?

Instructions: Read the e-mail. Circle the correct option to complete it.

From: jellison@polygon.com

To: psmith@polygon.com

Subject: _____ (Proposal due - Important - Important: Assignment for this Thursday)

_____ (Hello Peter, - Peter, - Hey you,)

You are aware that Polygon is intending to expand its market into South America. The competition is fierce but we have the attention of Giorgio Farmani. As we requested, he has extended the proposal deadline for a bid to promote Holly's clothing line to this Friday. I am _____ (in regards to - on behalf of - comissioning you) to write the proposal.

Please _____ (complete by - consult with - call back) Miranda Morehouse if you have any questions. I have asked her to review your _____ (acceptance - extension - progress) at the end of each day. The assignment _____ (must be replied - must be completed - must be extended) by Thursday at noon.

Would you _____ (please write - please reply - please send) to this email to confirm your _____ (acceptance - progress - extension) of this assignment and its deadline? I am confident in your abilities.

_____ (Regards, - To, - Hello) Janet Ellison, CEO
Polygon

Let's Practice!

Now, it's your turn to write a work e-mail. Use the information from the video and stimulus to complete the activity.

Instructions:

- Imagine you are the boss of a company. You have to write an e-mail to one of your employees delegating a task that they must complete.
- Write a 100 - 150 word e-mail to an employee.
- Include your e-mail address and their e-mail address.
- Include a Subject line, salutation, reason for writing the e-mail and a closing.
- *Use language to delegate responsibility like The (noun) must be completed by (date).
- Write in formal language and in complete sentences.

FROM:

TO:

SALUTATION:

REASON FOR WRITING:

RESPONSIBILITIES BEING DELEGATED:

CLOSING:

Extension Activity

Let's respond to a business e-mail.

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Imagine you receive an e-mail from your boss. She/he has tasked you with writing an agenda for a staff meeting.
- You have to write a response back to your boss letting her/him know that you have accepted the responsibility she/he have given you.
- Remember to use the correct format and formal language.
- Proofread your e-mail.

Self-Assessment

Yes

No

I write a work e-mail accepting responsibilities.

☐
☐

I include a subject, salutation and closing in my e-mail.

☐
☐

I give reasons for writing the e-mail.

☐
☐

Target Words

- to commission (verb): to formally ask someone to write an official report for you e.g. I am commissioning you to write the proposal.
- progress (noun): development towards finishing something
e.g. She will review your progress at the end of each day.
- acceptance (noun): officially agree to take something that you have been offered e.g. Please confirm your acceptance of this assignment.
- confirmation (noun): a statement, often written, that something is certain or true
e.g. This e-mail is a confirmation in regards to the assignment for Thursday.
- on behalf of (expression): speaking or acting for e.g. You will write this proposal on behalf of Polygon.
- to advise (verb): to tell someone what you think they should do
e.g. It is advised that you meet with Miranda.

Learning Points

Writing a Business E-mail

When writing a business e-mail, it is important to take into consideration the language you are going to use. The language in most e-mails is either formal or informal. Here are the main differences between formal and informal language.

Formal	Informal
Common expressions	Common expressions
I am writing to inform you ...	Just letting you know that ...
I am happy/ glad to inform you that ...	Good news: ...
Please find attached	I'm attaching ...
I've attached	Here is the ...
I would like to remind you to ...	Don't forget to ...
Would you please ... ?	Can you ... ?
I look forward to seeing you on ...	OK. See you on ...
Dear Jane	Hi Jane
How are you? How have you been?	How you doing? How are things?

Formal	Informal
Full form [No abbreviations]	Abbreviations
Talk to you later	TTYL
Best regards,	rgds
By the way,	btw
As soon as possible	ASAP

Learning Points

Accepting and Delegating Responsibilities

In the workplace, one of the most common challenges for employers is the fact that you may have too many things to do and not enough time to complete these tasks. In order for you to get things done, you will need to delegate and also accept responsibilities that are given to you. Here's some language for delegating and accepting responsibilities.

Delegating responsibilities	Accepting responsibilities
• I am commissioning you to ... (+verb) • Please consult with ... (+someone) • The ... (+noun) must be completed by ... (+date) • Would you ... (+verb) • I have asked ... (+someone) to ... (+verb)	• I am confirming my acceptance of ... (+noun) • I will ... (+verb) • You may be sure that ... (+clause) • Thank you for your confidence in ... (+someone) to ... (+verb)

