Let's Start!

What happened at the meeting?

Learning Outcome

Accurately use important information about people's jobs and places of work in communicative situations.

Can Do Statements

- I can pass on key information to a colleague.
- I can ask for clarification.
- I can talk about personality appropriate for work.

Ask your partner:

- Do you pass on information to your classmates or colleagues when they are absent? What details do you share with them?
- Do you think it is important to keep people in the loop?

Let's Explore!

Ferdinand shares information from the presentation. Will he give Renata an overview*?

* To "share" means to tell someone how you feel or what you heard.

 An "overview" is a short description that gives the main ideas without explaining all the details.

Instructions: Read the text aloud.

- Renata: Oh, I'm so glad to see you, Ferdinand. How was Miranda's meeting?
- Ferdinand: Too bad you couldn't make it. It gave me a lot to think about. Do you want an overview?
- Renata: Absolutely.
- Ferdinand: Miranda talked about greetings. She mostly related similarities in how North and South Americans greet each other but observed that North Americans may be less personable.
- Renata: What do you mean?
- Ferdinand: Well, for example, Miranda said that North Americans may talk about the weather rather than asking about you specifically.
- Renata: Interesting.
- Ferdinand: Miranda told us things that worry me about my meeting with Janet.
- Renata: How so? You mean to say you were too personable?
- Ferdinand: Maybe not, but I was very emotional in my enthusiasm.
- Renata: I don't get it. Do you mean North Americans are apathetic about their jobs?
- Ferdinand: Oh no, but perhaps they show their interest by asking questions.
- Renata: Now I'm even more confused. Must you act like you don't know anything?
- Ferdinand: Oh, no. But Miranda said that showing too much emotion may come off as being insincere. Perhaps I seemed to be putting on a show. A North American might ask some questions in a serious tone to show that he is thoughtful rather than just excited.
- Renata: Oh, I get it. What else did she say? Did you do anything else wrong?
- Ferdinand: You mean you haven't heard? Wait until I tell you about me being late!

Let's Practice!

Ferdinand passes on information. What does he say?

Instructions: Read the sentences. Write the action correctly (present - past). Choose from: relate, observe, state, tell, say.

- 1) You mean to _____ you were too personable?
- 2) She mostly _____ similarities in how North and South Americans greet each other.
- 3) Miranda _____ that North Americans may talk about the weather rather than asking about you specifically.
- 4) Wait until I _____ you about me being late!
- 5) She _____ that North Americans may be less personable.

Let's Practice!

What did Miranda say during her presentation?

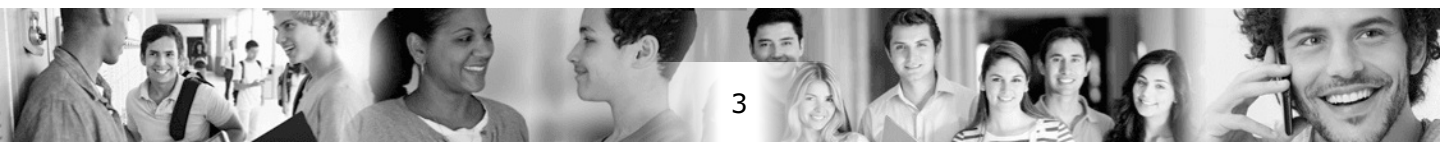

Instructions: Match the two parts of the sentences from Column A to Column B. Read the sentences aloud. Check your pronunciation with your instructor.

COLUMN A

1. North Americans
2. I was very
3. Do you mean North Americans are
4. Miranda said that showing too much
5. Perhaps I seemed to be

COLUMN B

- a. apathetic about their jobs?
- b. emotional in my enthusiasm.
- c. putting on a show.
- d. may be less personable.
- e. emotion may come off as being insincere.

Extension Activity

Let's pass on key information!

Instructions: Complete the following steps. Fill in the Self-Assessment.

- Write a dialogue between you and a colleague. Your colleague is asking you about the meeting you had yesterday. Your colleague wants you to share information.
- You are passing on information to them. Pass on at least 5 pieces of information. They ask for clarification.
- Proofread your dialogue.
- Practice reading your dialogue aloud.

Self-Assessment

Yes

I pass on key information to a colleague.

I use three different verbs when passing on information to a colleague.

I ask for clarification in a conversation.

Target Words

- to relate (verb): to tell someone about events that have happened to you or someone else
e.g. She mostly related all the similarities she noticed about how North and South Americans greet each other.
- to observe (verb): to notice something e.g. She observed that North Americans appear less personable.
- rather than (expression): instead of e.g. They may talk about the weather rather than asking about you.
- apathetic (adjective): not showing interest
e.g. Do you mean North Americans are apathetic in the jobs they want?
- insincerity (noun): saying things you don't mean; dishonest
e.g. If you show too much emotion, it may come off as insincerity.
- to put on a show (verb): to be exaggerated; to get people to notice you e.g. I think she thought I was putting on a show.

Learning Points

Passing on Information

In the business world, you will attend many meetings but you may also be absent from some. It is important to pass on key information from a meeting to a colleague. When we report what another person has said, we don't normally use the speaker's exact words (direct speech) but reported (indirect) speech. Here's how you can report and pass on key information to a colleague.

We use 'reporting' verbs like say, tell, observed, stated followed by the word "that".

Common Collocations with "Say" and "Tell"
SAY	TELL
• yes • no • something • a word • hello • goodbye	• the truth • a lie • the time • a story • a secret • the difference

Examples:

- What else did she say?
- She observed that South Americans are more personable.
- Maria stated that North Americans like to talk about the weather.
- The presenter said that we shouldn't show too much emotion.
- Miranda told us things that worry me about my meeting with Janet.

Learning Points

Asking for Clarification

Sometimes you don't understand what was said or something was not clear to you. It is, therefore, important to seek clarification from the person you are talking to.

- What do you mean?
- You mean (to say) ... ?
- Could you repeat that, please?
- Could you clarify that, please?
- Do you mean ... ?
- How so?

Examples:

- Rosie: Well, she tends to show her interest by asking a lot of questions.
- Mick: Could you clarify that, please?
